Containing the freſheſt Advices, Forcign and Domeſtic.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1766.

Philadelphia, September 8, 1766.

To the Printers of the Pennſylvania Journal.

AS ſome anonymous perſons have, with a view of hurting my reputation, and ſerving their purpoſes at the approaching election, publiſhed in the ſupplement of the Pennſylvania Journal, No. 1239, ſundry copies of letters ſaid to be wrote by me to the Commiſſioners of the Stamp-Office, and to Dr. Franklin, in London, I do hereby aſſure the public that the ſaid copies are by no means genuine, and that I have, in order to do myſelf juſtice, commenced an action againſt the printers. As this matter is now to be determined in a due courſe of law, I hope from the equity of the public, that they will ſuſpend their judgments on it till it is brought to a final iſſue. The people of this province have been ſo long accuſtomed to ſee theſe kind of attacks made by the proprietary party at this ſeaſon, and to find in the end all their charges proved to be without foundation, and that not a ſingle perſon ever appears openly to ſupport one of them, that they may poſſibly judge it unneceſſary for me to take any notice of any thing which comes from that quarter. But as the full refutation which I gave in print ſome time ago, to certain vile anonymous charges made againſt me by that party in a ſupplement to Mr. Bradford's Journal, has not, I find, put a ſtop to their villainous proceedings, I am induced to try whether the laws of my country will not be more efficacious for that purpoſe. In the mean time, I ſhall not be ſurprized if they go on and forge new letters, write comments on them all to ſpirit up the populace to injure me, and endeavour all in their power to wound the friends of the people through my ſides; but this I am well convinced of, that there is not a man of credit among them who will declare under his hand that they are genuine, or attempt to produce any proofs of their being ſo. JOHN HUGHES.

To the PUBLIC.

GENTLEMEN,

BY the above advertiſement of Mr. Hughes's, you have a freſh inſtance of his regard to the Liberties of his fellow ſubjects, in his impotent but ill-natured attempt againſt the Freedom of the Preſs. His ſuing the Printers of the Pennſylvania Journal, for printing an exact copy of his own letters, is no more than the ill-judged effects of that inſatiable paſſion which he has, to trample upon the moſt ſacred Rights and Privileges of Britiſh ſubjects in America. The letters themſelves, which are but the hiſtory of his own conduct for a conſiderable time paſt, plainly diſcover how heartily and paſſionately he wiſhed for the favourable opportunity which would put it into the power of this excellent patriot, to execute the deteſtable STAMP-ACT, which no American can mention without abhorrence, and to reduce the free-born Sons of Britain to a ſtate of the moſt wretched ſlavery. What elſe can be the meaning of his bareface Falſhood, in repreſenting North-America as in a ſtate of abſolute rebellion againſt the beſt of Kings, and in uſing all his feeble endeavours to excite his Majeſty and his Miniſters to ſend over an armed force to quell us, as he modeſtly terms it? But ſuch is his inſenſibility to all the dictates of Honour or public Virtue, that to compleat his character, he would now attempt to demoliſh the Liberty of the Preſs, that invaluable privilege of a free people; becauſe through that channel his hidden arts are brought to Light.

Tis but a piece of juſtice to the public, to let them know his laſt effort to prop his ſinking character, which has long laboured under violent ſuſpicions. He procured a writ for the printers of his letters, on Saturday laſt, which was executed by the ſheriff on Monday morning following, as twelve hundred pounds damages were marked on the writ, the printers ſent him a notice about 12 o'clock, to appear before a Magiſtrate to ſhew cauſe of action; but he refuſed to appear. At 4 o'clock, the ſame afternoon, they ſent him another notice, to appear for the ſame purpoſe at 10 o'clock the next day, and informed him, that unleſs he appeared, they would move for a diſcharge from the arreſt. But ſuch was the conſciouſneſs of his guilt, that he refuſed again to appear, and as he could not be compelled by law to ſhew cauſe of action, the arreſt was accordingly diſcharged. We are only the printers of a free and impartial paper, and we challenge Mr. Hughes and the world, to convict us of partiality in this reſpect, or of even an inclination to reſtrain the freedom of the preſs in any inſtance. We can appeal to North America not only for our impartiality as printers, but alſo for the great advantages derived to us very lately from the unreſtrained liberty, which every Britain claims of communicating his ſentiments to the public thro' the channel of the preſs. What would have become of the liberties of the Britiſh Colonies in North-America, if Mr. Hughes's calls on Great-Britain had been heard, to reſtrain the printers here from publiſhing, what he is pleaſed to ſtile inflammatory pieces, and if every proſtitute ſcribler, and enemy to his country had been ſuffered, without controul from the pens of true patriots, to rack their diſtempered brains, to find out arguments to gull a free born people into a tame ſubmiſſion to perpetual ſlavery, and to impoſe their flimſey cobwebs upon us, inſtead of ſolid and ſubſtantial reaſoning; To the freedom of the preſs in America we may in a great meaſure attribute the continuance of thoſe inherent and conſtitutional privileges, which we yet enjoy and which every Briton, who is not inſlaved to private or party intereſts, prefers to his life. We cannot therefore doubt, but that the happineſs, which now reigns thro' all the Britiſh plantations, will inſpire every friend of his country with an honeſt and generous indignation againſt the wretch that would attempt to enſlave his countrymen by reſtraints on the preſs.

We would now inform the publick, that the letters of Mr. Galloway and Mr. Hughes, which we printed in our laſt week's paper, were tranſmitted to Philadelphia, by Capt. Sparks, from a gentleman in London of character and integrity, who is a friend of North-America, and never was accounted capable of impoſing upon the publick. They were publickly ſeen and read in the Coffee-Houſes in London by great numbers, were laid before the Parliament, and are copied verbatim in their Books. They came as genuine into our hands, as ſuch we laid them before the publick, and ſuch, we have it in our power to prove them. But were there no other evidences of his writing the letters we printed there may be ſufficient Proofs of the Fact taken from the very letters themſelves, to ſhew them the genuine Productions of his accurate pen.---Let not Mr. Hughes therefore think that his weak and faint denial of the Genuineneſs of the Letters will paſs with the impartial world, as ſufficient to overthrow ſuch a Variety and Strength of Evidence, as the Public is already poſſeſſed of againſt him. Let him reconcile the aſſurances he has given to the Commiſſioners of the Stamp-office, that he would faithfully execute the ſtamp-office when it would be in his power, with his full reſignation of it which he made to the public, before he can expect to be believed in any matter by his fellow-citizens.

LONDON.

July 15, It is reported hoſtages will be immediately demanded of the Court of Spain, for the payment of the Manilla ranſom.

We are aſſured that France is now reſolved, in good earneſt to break that glorious peace which ſo highly pleaſed its maker, as to wiſh that his Epitaph might forget all the great things he ever did except this alone.

The Dutch news writers pretend to have advice from London, that the Earl of Rochford will be charged to demand of the Court of France the object of the diſpoſitions making in ſeveral of their ports.

It is now ſaid, there will be no abatement in our full demands on the court of Madrid, for their immediate diſcharge of the Manilla Ranſom.

Some thouſand ſeamen, we hear, will ſoon be wanted for actual ſervice on board his Majeſty's ſhips of war.

It is reported that an Engliſh fleet will ſpeedily be ſtationed to counteract the deſigns of the French court on the coaſt of Corſica.

July 23. We are told, that in a late conference a noble Lawyer took the liberty of declaring his ſentiments very freely. Among other things, he declared the adminiſtration muſt be changed, or all would ſoon be in confuſion. That the advices of the ſecret tranſactions of Foreign Courts, the contempt ſhewn to our Councils and Demands by Foreign Powers, the diſſatisfaction ſhewn by almoſt all ranks at home, and the diſtreſſes and almoſt deſperate ſituation of our poor; all concurred to make ſuch a change abſolutely neceſſary without delay; and that we did not want a coalition of parties in the adminiſtration, but a coalition of abilities.

'Tis ſaid, one great cauſe of an illuſtrious Commoner's acceſſion to power is to prevent a rupture between this kingdom and a certain northern Potentate.

July 24. On the 8th of June a motion was made in the Houſe of Commons, and the Queſtion being put, that an humble addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, to expreſs the earneſt wiſh and deſire of this houſe, that his Majeſty would ſuſpend any prorogation of his parliament, until poſitive aſſurances ſhall be received from the ſeveral governors of the the reſpective provinces of North-America, that the people are returned to a due ſenſe of their duty, and obedience to the laws: that this houſe is the more earneſt in their preſſing ſolicitations to his Majeſty, to grant this their humble requeſt, as they may apprehend many of the fatal conſequences of the rebellious diſpoſition of his Majeſty's ſubjects in thoſe parts might have been prevented, if the parliament had been called laſt year, as ſoon as the accounts of the diſorderly and tumultuous conduct of the Americans came to the knowledge of his Majeſty's miniſters: to aſſure his Majeſty that this houſe is determined to ſupport the legal authority of the crown, and the juſt rights of the Britiſh legiſlator, over all parts of his Majeſty's dominions; and when permitted to offer their advice, to guard the honor of his crown and government, from any inſult whatſoever.

It paſſed in the negative.

July 25. Our letters from Germany contradict the report of Prince Ferdinand having entered into the ſervice of France; tho' it is beyond doubt, that, were he ſo diſpoſed, he might command his own terms either from that Court, or the Emperor of Germany. Theſe letters add, that it is ſuppoſed he intends to lead a retired life at his country ſeat in the dutchy of Brunſwick.-It were greatly to be wiſhed, that ſome method could be fallen upon, to induce him to engage in our ſervice, which at the ſame time would afford a ſtriking proof of our gratitude for his magnanimous conduct during the late war, and ſecure to us, in all events, the aſſiſtance of confeſſedly the greateſt General of the age.

July 29. The Right Hon. the Poſt-Maſters General have appointed Peter De Lancy, jun. Eſq; Deputy poſt Maſter General of the Carolinas, Floridas, Georgia, and the Bahama Iſlands, with their Dependencies.

It is ſaid that a Bill will be brought into Parliament the next Seſſion, appointing Elections for Members of Parliament to be by Ballot; which, it is thought, will almoſt totally prevent all future Corruption on ſuch Occaſions; as it will be impoſſible to know on which Side an Elector votes, and conſequently render Candidates extremely cautious whom they truſt with a Bribe.

July 31. The reſpectful manner in which the Americans appear to receive the news of the repeal of the Stamp-Act, does them very great honour, and effectually juſtifies the meaſure. The nation will receive advantage from it; the miniſtry ſome credit; and great glory will accrue to thoſe who in ſo diſtinguiſhed a manner took the lead in accompliſhing it. The framers of that act, and oppoſers of its abolition, muſt now become doubly odious, both as Statesmen and Patriots, or rather in their pretenſions to either character, which can never more be allowed them; for it is diſgraceful to take wrong meaſures, it muſt be infamous to aim at ſupporting them, when they are diſcovered to be wrong.

To the Printer of the S. J. Chronicle.

SIR,

IT has coſt me many hours ſerious thinking to what I ſhould liken our preſent K. [illegible] miniſtry; and at laſt I could find nothing more reſembling them than a Wheel-Barrow; you will think my Similie very odd; but it is a very good one when you hear the Explanation, The K. is the Body of it; L--d B--te's two Arms are the Handles; the Wheel is the Duke of N--c--tle. To prove this, the K. is the ſupreme Head and Body of this Kingdom; "Lord Bute governs ; and turns  as he thinks fit; and drives the Duke of N--c--tle and his Party wherever he pleaſes; therefore how pleaſing and agreeable would it be to ſee the caſe altered: That is to have the Wheel made into Handles; and L--d B--'s Head to be drove down Tower-Hill inſtead of the Wheel of this Machine.-----This is the true Wiſh of every Yeſterday arrived Capt. Hardcaſtle from Jamaica, which he left the 9th of Auguſt, on his paſſage he ſpoke Capt. Thurſton, in a ſchooner from Blue-Fields in Jamaica, who informed him, that on the 18th of Auguſt, a violent gale of wind happened there, in which he cut his cables and put out to ſea; the ſame ſchooner ſpoke a brig from Kingſton bound to Penſacola, who informed him, that at Kingſton 17 ſail were drove aſhore, and at Morant and other out ports ſeveral veſſels were alſo aſhore.

Tueſday arrived here the Gaſpee Cutter, Capt. Allen, from a cruiſe to the Southward.

We hear that Capt. Ebenezer Kent of Charleſtown died lately in London of the Small Pox: What makes his Death more afflictive to the Family is, that he ſailed from Falmouth laſt November for this Place; no Advice having been received of him it was thought he was loſt, until Ten Months after, when Advice came that he had been taken up by a Dutch Veſſel, and at length arrived in England, from whence he was expected in the firſt Veſſel, which has now brought the News of his Death.

We hear from Brookline, that a melancholly Affair lately happened in the Family of Capt. Crafts of that Town: Three of his Children, one of the Age of about 6 Years, going to School, gathered ſome Seeds out of a prickly Pod that grows upon Henbane, of which one of them ate a great Quantity, and poiſoned himſelf to ſuch a Degree that he died in a ſhort Time after in great Agonies. Another was much poiſon'd and in great Diſtreſs, but is likely to recover; the Third, and youngeſt, eating but a ſmall Potion was not ſo much affected. This Henbane is not what generally bears that Name; it grows in the High-Way and is commonly known here by the Name of Devil's-Weed; it has a wide ſpreading Stalk and a broad Leaf, bears a large round prickly Pod and is of a bad Smell; when ripe the Pod opens, and the Seeds are like ſmall Coffee.

Monday laſt ſome Children playing near the Mill-Pond, one of them, a Boy of about 6 Years of Age, fell in; It was ſeveral Minutes before Help could be obtained, he was taken up from the Bottom as dead, but after rolling him on a Barrel, and rubbing him well with Salt, then covering him with Blankets before a good Fire, recovered ſo as to be blooded, and a Potion of Phyſic adminiſtered to him, and is likely to do well.

By Capt. Atwood in 7 Days from Halifax, we are informed, That a few Days before he left that Port, a large Sloop about 90 Tons, almoſt new, laden with Lumber, was tow'd in by a Fiſherman, but no Perſon on board, and ſtript of her Sails, &c. that it could not be learnt where ſhe was from.

Admiral Colvill ſailed from thence for London a few Days after the Death of Admiral Durell.

Before Admiral Colville ſailed, we hear, he ſent a Diſpatch to the River St. Lawrence, for Captain Dean, in his Majeſty's Ship Mermaid, to repair to Halifax as ſenior Commander.

[One of the Perſons who thinks himſelf injured, by the Wickingham Piece in our laſt Gazette, about ten Days ago ſent us a very ſcandalous malicious Advertiſement, deſign'd to prejudice a Gentleman of Character and Fortune in this Town. Quere. Whether the Treatment we have lately receiv'd for not naming the Author of the firſt Piece, may not be thought a ſufficient Provocation for us to expoſe that of the other.]
